

On those stepping into rivers other and other waters flow. The river is here as this water by not being here as that water.

The river shows itself as this water by hiding itself as that water. The river hides behind its showing of itself.

But every thing "flows" like this. Revelation conceals. The sign conceal only has "life" if the concealed is possible "experience." Talk of the "hidden" that CANNOT show itself is empty. "Chora" is a name for "how" the thing is here. The "idea" of the thing that is here is the as-that-thing-ness of this "quality."

The "phenomenal field" is "digitized." The world is there as things. The things are there as "also more" than they show now. The "phenomenal field" is dynamic or flowing. No thing finishes arriving. The world is never done arriving.

The "phenomenal field" is fluid "worldface." The sign "consciousness" can be taken as a pointing to the "being there" or the "presence" of this "worldface." The world is there with a "for-me-ness." The rose is there and not the river because my eyes aim at the rose and the river is miles from my eyes. The rose itself is there as a red shape, but the rose is not there as shape when the sun is gone and the moon is new. The same rose is perhaps there with the differing quality of memory. I ~~remember~~ that same rose.
remember

I act on things with my hands that have the quality we call "perceptual." Those things are the "present." The present is what presents itself now to my sense organs. The rose I touch now is here as perceptual quality. The remember rose is also here now, but with a different quality.

I act with my hands on things with perceptual quality to control as best I can the "value quality" of the oncoming future. A memory can have a complex quality. The memory is there as "good" and also as "memory."

I act on (perceptually) present things with my hands in expectation. I enact with meat and bone the belief that "this approach" takes me to an oncoming future that is "good." My belief is primarily "meat belief" and the "breath belief" can clash with the "meat" belief.

My mouth belief or beath belief -- because I am a sophisticated philosopher -- is perhaps that experience is a stuff that hides the world from me. My mouth floats like a helium balloon above my legs and belly. Even my mouth speaks against what it says as it says it. My saying enacts my meat belief that others are in the world of experience with me.

Alienated mouth belief gives us a "matter" without quality that hides "behind" quality. This loses the genuine materialism of Feuerbach. The "matter" of meat-belief and bone-belief is quality. The ~~value~~ quality we might call "value" or "good" --- and "disvalue" or "bad" --- grounds the "reality" of flesh-belief.

Even alienated mouth belief that hides "reality" behind experience is action in the present toward oncoming experience with "value" quality. I may win status in the experienced world this way. I may even be self-honest but unskillful in the signs I choose. I may sincerely "compute" in an "alienated mouth belief word math," because I parrot the tradition. Pragmatism -- if radical and not a word-math theory of word-math truth -- is "psychoanalytic" in its pointing at flesh-belief. My non-verbal conduct away from the "seminary ~~of~~ for trans-empirical research" may be pointed out to me. I then try to put my mouth with the rest of me.

4 II Aug 26

I say Plato says "the wings of angels are always wet." Numbers are enacted by mortal flesh as operations in quality. Numbers are what we do with marks that are therefore ~~andxxxxxxx~~ numerals. The world is "wet" with "quality." Toothache. Thirst. Crash of thunder. Blinking glyphs on monitors. Pencil scribbles that "count as" in a visceral pragmatic body-belief sense first.

Plato's rose-o-teric doctrine points to the is-ness --for instance -- of a numeral. The shape of the numeral is "arbitrary." Read up on the history of notations -- often just human fingers. We translate between numerals by considering their systemic roles in practical life. The basis of "meaning" is giving a ~~fuck~~ fuck. As Hobbes saw. Hope and fear drive our deliberations, some of which are calculations.

A "true reality" divorced from care expresses ~~xxxxxxx~~ the hope of a final security. "Purified mouth belief" is "~~purified~~ purified" of awareness of dying-below-the-neck-ness. The ice-cold troo reality is presupposed, parroted. "Everybody knows" that foolosophers try to "mirror" a concealed "true reality" with their marks & noises that "must" be carriers of ~~platonmagicalxxx~~ inside immaterial meaningstuff.

The atheist version ~~xxxxx~~ of the physics mystic has blindly began from a matho-idealist fetish he calls "the physical." This is the theophysical of alienated mouth belief. The theophysical is without quality. The quality of empirical things is scraped off. These scraped off qualities are called "qualia." The quality of things as they are there for the dying horny afraid thirsty expectant flesh is transformed into a mysterious by-product of the mathemagical fetish object. The "true world" is "external reality." The world that my body executes my primary belief in is "inside stuff." This "inside stuff" includes --- it must --- the "pure quality-independent meaning" that allows the foolosopher to generate a "theorem" with a batteries-included quasi-divine logick. The foolosopher's "theorem" mirrors "external reality" in "internal reality" ppure-meaning-stuff. The marks and noises "must" be inessential, for they are qualitative. "Of course" a sound as such does not "mirror" trans-qualitative "objective reality." It is the "pure eternal meaning" of the marks used in physics. Physics --- they insist --- is not about controlling future quality. It speaks of what is beyond the veil.

This mouth-belief-only runs away from experience. It flees a seeing of what is below its own neck. It loses itself in "explaining" the world ---but in terms of predictionsof or the control of experience. That is "just science." The "physics mystic" runs from the ground of the ~~xxxxx~~ prestige of science, which is care. Because he cares about a theory of the "god" or 4D crystal beyond the veil. The "physics mystic" presents theology --- which may even be beautiful theology --- as hard-boiled just-the-facts-mam (but transempirical) superscientific "truth."

