The rose for your nose now. The same rose for my eyes later. To morrow who knows. Its thorn for Mary's finger.

The rose is there one way by not being there in other ways. To be there in specified quality is also to not be there.

The rose-in-itself is just this identity or unity of the rose. There is always more of the rose. The rose hides behind itself.

The rose that is there in or as specified quality is not an icon in the "mind" that hides the real rose from us. The rose has its life in time. The rose is between us. The rose doesn't fit into a moment. The rose is all of the ways it shows but glued together.

The roseterie (esoteric) /xxx "doctrine" (helpless pointing) of Plato is the crash of identity into quality --- the ongoing crash that gives us things. The "idea" is identity. The "form of forms" is unity as temporal synthesis. Quality is chunked. We get a ~~theory~~ theory or "seeing" of the thing-ing of things. Thing theory.

Thingseeing is phenomenology. Plato is a good dialogical positivist. The ~~positivism~~ is what is just there and only what is there.

"Pre-search" is research into the "pre" or the "before we even start." Presearch is radical pragmatism, and pragmatism is psychoanalytic.

It requires not cleverness but honesty. It requires ---it enacts --- self-knowing. It puts the mouth where the money is. It puts the mouth back with the rest of the body.

Belief is primarily non-verbal conduct. metaphysics is mouth belief floating away from belief below the neck. Logocentrism names this alienation. The alienated theorist escapes to a game of mouth belief. A "true reality" is invented that demotes the ur-empirical world to an "inside image." I use "ur-empirical ~~reality~~ reality" for the world our non-theoretical flesh is too late already ~~performing~~ performing chasive and evasive strategies in.

The general structure is the "now" is a steering of the oncoming in terms of the already. We act on what is here with our hands to control what will be here, as much as we can. We totally actually give a fuck. This giving-a-fuck is "care" as primary. Alienated mouth belief or metaphysics daydreams a "reality" that is concealed by care.

The "objective reality" they ~~positivize~~ worry about is the world for a god who does not worry. They worry about worry as ~~bias~~ bias. They are "sorry" to report that your worried experience is illusion.

Experience is not real. This is the "sophisticated" conspiracy theory of body-alienated mouth-belief. They "prove" this "theorem" in a game of purified mouth-belief. This is (God's) eternal Logick. The atheist players are sometimes the most mystified.

Mathemagical platonism is enacted blindly as disavowed. I read ~~Plato~~ Plato to insist that the wings of angels are wet.

The rose for Joe's nose now, the rose for Braddy's fingers later. These are moments of the same rose. The specificity of each moment excludes the specificity of the other.

To is is to be there in one way rather than another. To is is to conceal revealingly, to revealingly conceal.

The rose is a unity of its moments. Determinateness is exclusion. The rose is here now this way as not here that way. The rose as thing is here now as overflowing the now. The rose is here as other fxx than me. The rose was is or may be there for others.

The rose is a temporal sythesis of differences in quality. The rose is like the numeral 3.

The numeral 3 is (to start) a synthesis of differing pencil scribbles. The numeral shows itself as one scribble only by not showing itself as the other scribbles. This 3 is more than all scribbles so far. The temporal open synthesis is ~~xxxxxx~~ "ajar." The numeral is ongoing. 3 is forever arriving.

The scribbles are tiny, the scribbles are tall. Some are feint. Some bold. There is no true shape of the scribble. All of them in their ~~xxxxxxx~~ singular quality count as 3.

Each scribble event that is there as 3 is a moment of 3. So where is the real numeral 3? Is the numeral itself and not the number immaterial?

Each scribble is a face of the 3. The 3 shows itself as a specified bundle of ~~optixxquality~~ optical quality. The quality of this face excludes the quality of other faces of 3. The 3 does not hide behind all possible scribblefaces.

The 3 hides all of its faces but one to show itself. This is the temporal depth of the numeral. Is-ing or being is hide-ingly showing or showingly hiding. Revelation conceals. Vision is (also) blindness. To see is (also) to not see. To be there is also to not be.

The genuine "matter" of the world is "quality." This word "quality" is a helpless pointing. We might say "urstuff." Or Plato's chora. The rose is there in a way that we call "red." The rotten tooth is there in a way that we call "excruciating." Quality "underflows" these labels. There is the sign "pain" and also the "quality" of some situations that motivate the saying or inscription of this sign "pain."

Plato is a genuine "materialist" like Feuerbach. His "chora" is "the indefinite dyad." Chora is "continuum." It is "ineffable" in the sense of "how labels are there and not another label."

Yet we use a sign to point at "it." We also use the sign "being" to point at the "there-ness" of things that is not ~~ixx~~ "itself" a thing that is there. Signs often function as ~~xxxxxxx~~ categories. Nouns often live ---almost always live --- as names of things.

Thingtheory or ontology aims at the basic. The theory is almost nothing. It points at the brute fact of the thing. It (tries to) drill below speculative and even pragmatic categories. A thing is "there" only by being there somehow. The rose is there as red shape. Or the eyes of Joe are closed as he smells the rose. The rose is there as scent. The memory of that same rose is there was the elusive quality that its way of being there called a "memory." The thing is there with specified exclusive quality and also as "the" rose. The quality is bundled. Plato gives us a quantum theory. Quality is always bundled and no thing is there at all without quality.
